IS A RELIC OF THE PAST.

Blind Veteran of the Palmy Days of the Circus.

It is not often that one may have his dinner cooked by a woman who can at the same time give reminiscences of the stage dating back for half a century. She who possesses this remarkable memory is the proprietor of an inn of odd construction which is not far from Greenwood Lake, in New Jersey. She has been identified with practically every phase, not only of the stage, but of the circus. She is now blind, but her mind is so filled with images of the past that she is never depressed. She remembers P. T. Barnum, James A. Bailey and all the old-time kings of the tented field, for in her younger days she was a performer in the ring. The palmy days of minstrelsy she can talk about for the hour, recalling anecdotes of Wambold and Backus and old Billy Emerson. Then by a quick transition she will go to the drama and talk entertainingly of Florence and Jefferson and the elder Sothern. In the meantime she is busy about the details of the dinner and is carrying on the complicated operations as easily as though her sight was as keen and strong as it was in the days of her triumphs of ring and stage.

Pneumonia's Deadly Work.

had so seriously affected my right lung, writes Mrs. Fannie Connor, of Rural Rout 1, Georgetown, Tenn., that I coughed continuously night and day and the neighbors' prediction—consumption—seemed inevitable, until my husband brought home a bottle of Dr. King's New Discoveryi which in my case proved to be the only real cough cure and restorer of weak, sore lungs. When all other remedies utterly fail, you may still win the battle against lung and throat troubles with New Discovery, the real cure. Guaranteed by J. H. Swan, druggist. 50c. and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

Outsiders Spoiled Sport.

A pack of English foxhounds were in full cry after a fox the other day, and the field was having a fine run, when, all at once, two sheep dogs jumped out, killed Reynard and ended the day's sport then and there, to the general disgust.

Doing Business Again

When my friends thought I was about to take leave of this wotld, on account of indigestion, nervousness and general debility, writes A. A. Chisholm, Treadwell, N. Y., and when it looked as if there was no hope left, I was persuaded to try Electric Bitters, and I rejoice to say that they are curing me. I am now doing business again as of old, and am still gaining daily. Best tonic medecine on earth. Guaranteed by J. H. Swan druggist. 50c.

New York Has Shortest Street.

The shortest street in the United States is Hague street, in New York. It is long enough to accommodate only two houses.

Bitten By a Spider.

Through blood poison caused by a spider bite, John Washington, of Bosaueville, Tex., would have lost his leg which had become a mass of running sores, had he not been persuaded to try Bucklen's Arnica Salve. He writes, the first application relieved, and four boxes healed all the sores. Heals every sore. 25 c. at J. H. Swan's, druggist.

A special meeting of the board of supervrsors was held at Woodstock Thursday last. The business for which they were called is said to be to take action on the matter of offering a reward for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the parties believed to have caused the death of Earle Eldredge, the deputy game warden who was found dead in a field near McHenry. The state game commissioner has offered a reward of $200, which is said to be the limit provided by the statutes of the state, and if the board of supervisors makes an additional appropriation the sum will be sufficient to employ detectives to work on the case. Relatives of the deputy game warden are more confident than ever that the young man met his death at the hands of some persons whom he was trying to arrest, and their view of the sad affair is shared by the people of Richmond pretty generally.

The Lake County Agricultural Association has purchased of the Antioch nursery a large order of shade trees and this spring is setting out what in a few years will make the grounds far better and more beautiful than they have ever been. A variety of trees have been bought among them being some ash, elm, etc., and a few quick growing varieties. The trees will be set out upon the land purchased last year which allowed a genuine enlargement of the grounds. It is the plan to have a small park laid out west of the track and within the fair grounds, where in the time to come there will be an abundance of shade. Other improvements are hoped for, though there will not be so much money spent this year as last upon the grounds as the association feels the need of going rather slowly after the expenditure it has made.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the friends and neighbors who so kindly assisted in our recent bereavement, and also to the singers.

The News—No Pure Drug Cough Cure Laws would be needed, if all cough cures were like Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure is—and has been for 20 years. The National Law now requires that if any poisons enter into a cough mixture, it must be printed on the label or package. For this reason mothers and others should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison-marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and see. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Simply refuse to accept any other. Sold by all dealers.

Vegetable Sponges.

About ten species of "vegetable sponges" are now cultivated in the warmer parts of Africa and Asia, especially in Algeria. The fruit is edible before maturity, but on ripening the pulp separates from fibrous material, which then becomes an excellent substitute for real sponge for the toilet, bathroom and many other purposes. The Algerian sponges are in large demand in Paris.

Rest is the great restorer. We tire our muscles by exercise and then rest to restore them; yet a great many of us do not stop to think how little rest we give our stomachs. As a usual thing no part of our bodies is so generally overworked as our digestive organs. A tired and overworked stomach will give signs of distress to which we pay no heed until at last dyspepsia takes hold. Indigestion is just a warning, and if we heed the warning we can easily avoid further consequences. Kodol is a most thorough stomach relief. It digests what you eat and gives the stomach the needed rest and greatly assists in restoring it to its normal activity and usefulness. Kodol is sold only on a gurantee relief plan. It is sold here by J. H. Swan.

Greek fire, which had several other names—wild fire, liquid fire, wet fire and fire rain—descriptive of its destructiveness, is said to have been the most destructive engine of war previous to gunpowder. Discovered by Callinicus, a Syrian, it was first used in the siege of Constantinople, 673-678, and at Mecca, 690.

At last poor, suffering man has found a defender. Three important American cities, Boston, Buffalo and Milwaukee, are now committed to the plan of providing penny lunches for poor school children. The idea, says Utica Press, is opposed by many on the ground that it will encourage pauperism, but these cities seem to think it just as profitable to run the risk of burying old people as to run the risk of caring for hundreds of diseased children.

A plan is suggested for rescuing the passengers and crews of wrecked vessels that is so simple that one wonders why it has not been suggested before. It is to maintain strong seagoing vessels at life-saving stations, and take the people off on the sea where it is not practicable to reach them from the land, as is often the case. There have been several cases this winter where a number of lives were lost by exposure, and by being washed overboard before help could reach them, that might easily have been saved in this way.

"If employers would give the waiters, say five per cent. of the amount of the bills of guests that they serve, it should be a satisfactory arrangement all around,' suggests a Baltimore man. "The waiter would have just as much object as ever in having the customer give him a big order and would, therefore, try to please him. The customer would not have to forsake his natural principles against tipping in order to get good service, and the employers who followed the plan and didn't allow tips could easily afford the five per cent. commission.

The development of the Canadian northwest makes an increasing use of the Hudson Bay route very probable. There is nothing to prevent railroads being run to the harbors on the bay. The only doubtful question is how far the route can be profitably employed for trade. The navigation of Hudson Bay itself is comparatively safe and easy. Some of its harbors are not icebound, even in winter. The serious problem is the entrance to the bay through the Hudson strait. The experience of the Hudson Bay company's navigators with that of the whalers who frequent these seas seems on the whole to confirm the opinion that no more than three months could be counted on with any certainty.

"I can't take that big bundle along with me, Joe," said I. "Besides, it ain't safe. Put it in the bank and send me a check."

"Not on your life," replied Healey with a laugh. "The suckers we trimmed gave checks, and I turned 'em into cash as soon as the banks opened. I wasn't any too spry, either. Two of the damned sneaks consulted lawyers as soon as they sobered off, and tried to stop payment on their checks. They're threatening proceedings. You must take the dough away with you, and I don't want a receipt."

"Trimming suckers, eh?" said I, not able to decide what to do.

"Their fathers stole it from the public," he explained. "They're drunken little snobs, not fit to have money. I'm doing a public service by relieving them of it. If I'd a got more, I'd feel that much more"—he vented his light, cool, sarcastic laugh—"more patriotic."

"I can't take it," said I, feeling that, in my present condition, to take it would be very near to betraying the confidence of my old friend.

"They lost it in a straight game," he hastened to assure me. "I haven't had a 'brace' box or crooked wheel for four years." This with a sober face and a twinkle in his eye. "But even if I had helped chance to do the good work of teaching them to take care of their money, you'd not refuse me. Up town and down town, and all over the place, what's business, when you come to look at it sensibly, but trading stolen goods? Do you know a man who could, honestly earn more than ten or twenty thousand a year—good clean money by good clean work?"

"Oh, for that matter, your money's as clean as anybody's," said I. "But you know I'm a speculator, Joe. I have my downs—and this happens to be a stormy time for me. If I take your money, I mayn't be able to account for it or even to pay dividends on it for—maybe a year or so."

"It's all right, old man. I'll never give it a thought till you remind me of it. Use it as you'd use your own. I've got to put it behind somebody's luck—why not yours?"

He finished doing up the package, then he seated himself, and we both looked at it through the smoke of our cigars.

"It's just as easy to deal in big sums as in little, in large matters as in small, isn't it, Joe," said I, "once one gets in the way of it?"

"Do you remember—away back there—the morning," he asked muslingly—"the last morning—you and I got up from the straw in the stables over at Jerome Park—the stables they let us sleep in?"

"And went out in the dawn to roost on the rails and spy on the speed trials of old Revell's horses?"

"Exactly," said Joe, and we looked at each other and laughed. "We in rags—gosh, how chilly it was that morning! Do you remember what we talked about?"

"No," said I, though I did.

"I was proposing to turn a crooked trick—and you wouldn't have it. You persuaded me to keep straight, Matt. I've never forgotten it. You kept me straight—showed me what a fool a man was to load himself down with a petty larceny record. You made a man of me, Matt. And then those good looks of yours caught the eye of that bookmaker's girl, and he gave you a job at writing sheet—and you worked me in with you."

So long ago it seemed, yet near and real, too, as I sat there, conscious of every sound and motion, even of the fantastic shapes taken by our upcurling smoke. How far I was from the "rail bird" of those happy-go-lucky years, when a meal meant quite as much to me as does a million now—how far from all that, yet how near, too. For was I not still facing life with the same careless courage, forgetting each yesterday in the eager excitement of each new day with its new deal? We went on in our reminiscences for a while; then, as Joe had a little work to do, I drifted out into the house, took a bite of supper with young Melville, had a little go at the tiger, and toward five in the clear June morning emerged into the broad day of the streets, with the precious bundle under my arms and a five hundred dollar bill in my waistcoat pocket.

"Give my win to me in a single bill," I said to the banker, "and blow yourself off with the change."

Joe walked down the street with me—for companionship and a little air before turning in, he said, but I imagine a desire to keep his eye on his treasure a while longer had something to do with his taking that early morning stroll. We passed several of those forlorn figures that hurry through the slowly-awakening streets to bed or to work. Finally, there came by an old, old woman—a scrub-woman, I guess, on her way home from cleaning some office building. Beside her was a thin little boy, hopping along on a crutch. I stopped them.

"Hold out your hand," said I to the boy, and he did. I laid the five hundred dollar bill in it. "Now, shut your fingers tight over that," said I, "and don't open them till you get home. Then tell your mother to do what she likes with it." And we left them gaping after us, speechless before this fairy story come true.

"You must be looking hard for luck to-day," said Joe, who understood this transaction where another might have thought it a showy and not very wise charity. "They'll stop in at the church and pray for you, and burn a candle."

"I hope so," said I, "for God knows I need it."

XIX.
A BREATHING SPELL.

Langdon, after several years of effort, had got recognition for textile in London, but that was about all. He hadn't succeeded in unloading any great amount of it on the English. So it was rather because I neglected nothing than because I was hopeful of results that I had made a point of telegraphing to London news of my proposed suit. The result was a little trading in textiles over there and a slight decline in the price. This fact was telegraphed to all the financial centers on this side of the water, and reinforced the impression my lawyers' announcement and my own "bear" letter were making.

Still, this was nothing, or next to it. What could I hope to avail against Langdon's agents with almost unlimited capital, putting their whole energy under the stock to raise it? In the same newspapers that published my bear attack, in the same columns and under the same head-lines, were official denials from the textile trust and the figures of enormous increase of business as proof positive that the denials were honest. If the public had not been burned so many times by "industrials," if it had not learned by bitter experience that practically none of the leaders of finance and industry were above lying to make or save a few dollars, if textiles had not been manipulated so often, first by Dumont and since his death by his brother-in-law and successor, this suave and cynical Langdon, my desperate attack would have been without effect. As it was——

Four months before, in the same situation, had I seen textiles stagger as they staggered in the first hour of business on the stock exchange that morning, I'd have sounded the charge, clapped spurs to my charger, and borne down upon them. But—I had my new-born yearning for "respectability;" I had my new-born squeamishness, which led me to fear risking Bob Corey and his bank and the money of my old friend Healey; finally, there was Anita—the longing for her that made me prefer a narrow and uncertain foothold to the bold leap that would land me either in wealth and power or in the bottomless abyss.

Instead of continuing to sell textiles, I covered as far as I could; and I bought so eagerly and so heavily that, more than Langdon's corps of rocketers, I was responsible for the stock's rally and start upward. When I say "eagerly" and "heavily" I do not mean that I acted openly or without regard to common sense. I mean simply that I made no attempt to back up my followers in the selling campaign I had urged them into; on the contrary, I bought as they sold. That does not sound well, and it is no better than it sounds. I shall not dispute any one who finds this action of mine a betrayal of my clients to save myself. All I shall say is that it was business, that in such extreme and dire compulsion as was mine, it was—and is—right under the code, the private and real Wall street code.

You can imagine the confused mass of transactions in which I was involved before the stock exchange had been open long. There was the stock we had been able to buy or get options on at various prices, between the closing of the exchange the previous day and that morning's opening—stock from all parts of this country and in England. There was the stock I had been buying since the exchange opened—buying at figures ranging from one-eighth above last night's closing price to fourteen points above it. And, on the debit side, there were over a period of nearly two months—"sellings" of blocks large and small at a hundred different prices.

An inextricable tangle, you will say, one it would be impossible for a man to unravel quickly and in the frantic chaos of a wild stock exchange day. Yet the influence of the mysterious state of my nerves, which I have described above, was so marvelous that, incredible though it seems, the moment the exchange closed, I knew exactly where I stood.

Like a mechanical lightning calculator, my mind threw up before me the net result of these selling and buying transactions. Textile common closed eighteen points above the closing quotation of the previous day; if Langdon's brother had not been just a little indiscreet, I should have been as hopeless a bankrupt in reputation and in fortune as ever was ripped up by the bulls of Wall street.

As it was, I believed that, by keeping a bold front, I might extricate and free myself when the coal reorganization was announced. The rise of coal stocks would square my debts—and, as I was apparently untouched by the textile flurry, so far as even Ball, my nominal partner and chief lieutenant, knew, I need not fear pressure from creditors that I could not withstand.

I could not breathe freely, but I could breathe.

XX.
MOST UNLADYLIKE.

When I saw I was to have a respite of a month or so, I went over to the National Industrial bank with Healey's roll, which my tellers had counted and prepared for deposit. I finished my business with the receiving teller of the National Industrial, and dropped in on my friend Lewis, the first vice-president. I did not need to pretend coolness and confidence; my nerves were still in that curious state of tranquil exhilaration, and I felt master of myself and of the situation. Just as I was leaving, in came Tom Langdon with Sam Ellersly.

Tom's face was a laughable exhibit of embarrassment. Sam—really, I felt sorry for him. There was no reason on earth why he shouldn't be with Tom Langdon; yet he acted as if I had caught him "with the goods on him." He stammered and stuttered, clasped my hand eagerly, dropped it as if it had stung him; he jerked out a string of hysterical nonsense, ending with a laugh so crazy that the sound of it disconcerted him. Drink was the explanation that drifted through my mind; but in fact I thought little about it, so full was I of other matters.

"When is your brother returning?" said I to Tom.

"On the next steamer, I believe," he replied. "He went only for the rest and the bath of sea air." With an effort he collected himself, drew me aside and said: "I owe you an apology, Mr. Blacklock. I went to the steamer with Mowbray to see him off, and he asked me to tell you about our new dividend rate—though it was not to be made public for some time. Anyhow, he told me to go straight to you—and I—frankly I forgot it." Then, with the winning, candid Langdon smile, he added, ingenuously: "The best excuse in the world—yet the one nobody ever accepts."

"No apology necessary," said I with the utmost good nature. "I've no personal interest in textile. My house deals on commission only, you know—never on margins for myself. I'm a banker and broker, not a gambler. Some of our customers were alarmed by the news of the big increase, and insisted on bringing suit to stop it. But I'm going to urge them now to let the matter drop."

Tom tried to look natural, and as he is an apt pupil of his brother's, he succeeded fairly well. His glance, however, wouldn't fix steadily on my gaze, but circled round and round it, like a bat at an electric light. "To tell you the truth," said he, "I'm extremely nervous as to what my brother will say—and do—to me, when I tell him. I hope no harm came to you through my forgetfulness."

"None in the world," I assured him. Then I turned on Sam. "What are you doing down town to-day?" said I. "Are you on your way to see me?"

"Oh, I was just calling on Tom," he replied rather haughtily.

Then Melville himself came in, brushing back his white tufted burnsides and licking his lips and blinking his eyes—looking for all the world like a cat at its toilet.

"Oh! ah! Blacklock!" he exclaimed, with purring cordiality—and I knew he had heard of the big deposit I was making. "Come into my office on your way out—nothing special—only because it's always a pleasure to talk with you."

I saw that his effusive friendliness confirmed Tom Langdon's fear that I had escaped from his brother's toils. He stared sullenly at the carpet until he caught me looking at him with twinkling eyes. He made a valiant effort to return my smile and succeeded in twisting his face into a knot that seemed to hurt him as much as it amused me.

"Well, good-by, Tom," said I. "Give my regards to your brother when he lands, and tell him his going away was a mistake. A man can't afford to trust his important business to under-strappers." This with a face free from any suggestion of intending a shot at him. Then to Sam: "See you to-night, old man," and I went away, leaving Lewis looking from one to the other as if he felt that there was dynamite about, but couldn't locate it. I stopped with Melville to talk coal for a few minutes—at my ease, and the last man on earth to be suspected of hanging by the crook of one finger from the edge of the precipice.

I rang the Ellersly's bell at half-past nine that evening. The butler faced me with eyes not down, as they should have been, but on mine, and full of servile insolence to which he had been prompted by what he had overheard in the family.

"Not at home, sir," he said, though I had not spoken.

I was preoccupied and not expecting that statement; neither had I skill, nor desire to acquire skill, in reading family barometers in the faces of servants. So I was for brushing past him and entering where I felt I had as much right as in my own places. He barred the way.

"Beg pardon, sir. Mr. Ellersly instructed me to say no one was at home."

I halted, but only like an oncoming bear at the prick of an arrow.

"What does this mean?" I exclaimed, waving him aside. At that instant Anita appeared from the little reception-room a few feet away.

"Oh—come in!" she said cordially. "I was expecting you. Burroughs, please take Mr. Blacklock's hat."

I followed her into the reception-room, thinking the butler had made some sort of mistake.

"How did you come out?" she asked eagerly, facing me. "You look your natural self—not tired or worried—so it must have been not so bad as you feared."

"If our friend Langdon hadn't slipped away, I might not look and feel so comfortable," said I. "His brother blundered, and there was no one to checkmate my moves." She seemed nearer to me, more in sympathy with me than ever before.

"I can't tell you how glad I am!"

Her eyes were wide and bright, as from some great excitement, and her color was high. Once my attention was on it, I knew instantly that only some extraordinary upheaval in that household could have produced the fever that was blazing in her. Never had I seen her in any such mood as this.

"What is it?" I asked. "What has happened?"

When our grandmothers were sick, tired out, unable to work or sleep, when their rosy complexion began to fade and the eyes to lose their luster, they were told that they required "more iron in their blood."

Instead of taking medicine, containing strong acids (to hold the iron in solution), they would stick iron nails into an apple, leave them in over night, and next morning, before breakfast, EAT THE APPLE.

As the results in all cases proved satisfactory it demonstrates once again that the nearer we approach nature the more apt are we to find remedies for the sick.

Mr. Zaegel, a chemist at Sheboygan, Wisconsin, has given this matter of using nature's remedies much attention.

If any of our readers will write him he will mail absolutely free an extract he prepares from roots and herbs which has been found an excellent remedy for Backache, Constipation, Rheumatism and Piles.

If you will mention your complaint, he will also send the names of these roots and herbs, showing which is best indicated in your case.

All that is necessary is to write to Mr. Zaegel, 127 Main street, Sheboygan, Wis., and he will mail you a trial bottle free.

So many are taking advantage of this offer that Mr. Zaegel says he does not know how long he can continue to give away free samples.

Write at once if you have Backache, Constipation, Rheumatism or Piles.

Home of the Icebergs.

Almost all the icebergs seen in the north Atlantic during June are products of the coast of Labrador, formed from the ice fields that had filled the indentations of that coast the previous winter. July's icebergs come from further north in the vicinity of Baffin Land, those of August come from still further north, and though fewer in number than those of the earlier summer, are larger in individuality. From the coast of Labrador may be seen an endless procession of these ice mountains coming out of the north and taking their way majestically southward until they lose their being in the warmer waters and climate of the south Atlantic.—Maine Journal.

Indians in United States.

In round figures, there are 284,000 Indians in the United States at the present time, 91,000 of whom are in Indian territory and 15,000 in Oklahoma, or 106,000 in the coming state. Those of Indian territory, the five civilized tribes—Cherokees, Creeks, Choctaws, Chickasaws and Seminoles—have been managing their own affairs for two-thirds of a century, and are in all respects fitted for the citizenship which they are soon to exercise. All of these, and nearly all of those in the Oklahoma end of the coming state, wear civilized dress, and have schools, churches and the other accompaniments of civilization.—Leslie's.

The Cheerful Bohemian.

"I never see you that you aren't light-hearted and cheerful," they said to the seedy Bohemian. "Why is it, we wonder."

"Well, you see," the Bohemian explained, "I've got so used to never having any money, to being always broke, to realizing that I've come to the end of my rope and there's nothing left for me, that I've made up my mind to make the best of it and take my medicine with a smile."

A FRIENDLY GROCER.

Dropped a Valuable Hint About Coffee.

"For about eight years," writes a Mich. woman, "I suffered from nervousness—part of the time down in bed with nervous prostration.

"Sometimes I would get numb and it would be almost impossible for me to speak for a spell. At others, I would have severe bilious attacks, and my heart would flutter painfully when I would walk fast or sweep.

"I have taken enough medicine to start a small drug store, without any benefit. One evening our grocer was asking husband how I was and he urged that I quit coffee and use Postum, so he brought home a pkg. and I made it according to directions and we were both delighted with it.

"So we quit coffee altogether and used only Postum. I began to get better in a month's time and look like another person, the color came back to my cheeks, I began to sleep well, my appetite was good and I commenced to take on flesh and become interested in everything about the house.

"Finally I was able to do all my own work without the least sign of my old trouble. I am so thankful for the little book, 'The Road to Wellville.' It has done me so much good. I haven't taken medicine of any kind for six months and don't need any.

"A friend of ours who did not like Postum as she made it, liked mine, and when she learned to boil it long enough, her's was as good as mine. It's easy if you follow directions." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkg. "There's a reason."

Recent Happenings of Interest in the Various Cities and Towns.

MORE GRAFT IS CHARGED.

Investigators Make Disquieting Report to Peoria Council.

Peoria.—That graft and fraud have existed for years in the purchase of feed supplies for the Peoria fire department is claimed to have been shown by the report of special auditors to the council. That a further investigation is to be made, and that an effort is to be put forth to recover the money out of which the city is said to have been defrauded is indicated by the adoption of a resolution that the treasurer, proceed, with the aid of the legal department, against the purchasing agents for the last three administrations.

The report, while it showed in figures the condition of affairs in the fire department, and gave in full every doubtful transaction, was exceedingly mild. It did not go into the questions of the price charged for feed, nor did it refer to the charges that the weights had been juggled with. No attempt had been made by the auditors to compare the weight slips with those given by the parties from whom Leen & Horan made their purchases.

AGED JOIN IN CELEBRATION.

Twins 80 Years Old Enjoy Birthday With Guests.

Genoa.—Twins 80 years of age celebrated their birthday in this city March 29 at one of the most unique parties in the history of the state. All of the guests were more than 60 years of age, and not one was suffering from any of the disabilities that come with age. Several were older than the twins themselves, one of them being in her ninetieth year.

The celebrants were Mrs. Mary Mettler and Mrs. Susan Churchill. Among the guests were Mrs. Martha McDowell, 85 years of age, Belvidere, Ill., and Mrs. Nancy Churchill, 90 years of age, Fairdale, Ill., sisters of the twins.

Master Horseshoers Adjourn.

Springfield.—After selecting Quincy as the place of the next annual meeting and electing officers for the ensuing year, the Illinois State Association of Master Horseshoers adjourned. Officers for the coming year are as follows: President, Frank Keyes of Peoria; first vice president, F. A. Ernst of Quincy; second vice president, G. A. Skinner of Jacksonville; secretary and treasurer, C. H. Wilson of Rockford; state organizer, J. A. Hose of Springfield. The date of the next meeting was not fixed, that matter being left with the executive committee.

Drops Dead on Street.

Bloomington.—Dr. Fred Voltz, who for the past seven or eight years has conducted a drug store at 808 East Grove street, dropped dead in front of the Dodge-Dickinson Mattress factory, a few doors east of his drug store, as he was on his way to the barber shop a block east.

Mr. Voltz was a robust man in the prime of life, being in the early forties. He was always in the best of health until a few weeks ago when a bad case of throat trouble developed. This is supposed to have been indirectly the cause of his death.

Contest Case Decided.

Jacksonville.—The contest for the office of county commissioner between C. C. Berryman, Democrat, and P. D. Megginson, Republican, which has been in the courts for some time, was dismissed by County Judge Francis E. Baldwin in favor of Megginson. Judge Baldwin had no sooner given his decision than W. N. Hairgrove, attorney for Berryman filed a motion for an appeal to supreme court. The appeal bond was fixed at $200, and 20 days was given for filing the same and 50 days for filing a bill of exceptions.

Blood Poison Is Fatal.

Bloomington.—W. H. Taylor, a well-known resident of Dalton City, died at his home in that place from blood poisoning, following the removal of a tooth. For 25 years Mr. Taylor has been in the lumber and implement business in Dalton City. He was a prominent member of both the Modern Woodmen and of the Odd Fellows.

Damage by Wind at Kewanee.

Kewanee.—In a cyclonic gale the big brick and steel tank building of the Kewanee Boiler company was wrecked and damage was done to the plants of the Standard Oil company and Boss Manufacturing company. Many houses near by had windows broken and chimneys demolished. Sheds were blown 100 feet.

Residence Burns at Kenney.

Kenney.—The handsome $10,000 home of C. H. Suttle in Kenney was entirely destroyed by fire. About half of the furnishings were saved. There was $5,300 insurance on the house and $1,000 on the furniture.

Plano Farmer Shoots Eagle.

Plano.—Louis Bale, a farmer residing north of here, shot an eagle in his farmyard. The bird measured seven feet from tip to tip and weighed 19 pounds. On its neck was a seven-ounce bell.

YOUNG MAN IS DROWNED.

Joseph Lepping of Peoria Tries to Swim Illinois River.

Peoria.—Joseph Lepping, 26 years of age, was drowned in the Illinois river at the foot of Lisk street as the result of an ill-advised attempt to swim the river at that point. Lepping and a companion named Luther Bullock went down to the river in the afternoon, deciding to take a swim. They removed their clothing and plunged into the swollen stream. Both came to the surface, chilled and barely able to keep afloat. Bullock was able to make his way to shore, but when he looked around for his companion he was missing. He gave the alarm and a party soon gathered on the river bank.

COMMUNIST LEADER IS DEAD.

Founder of Swedish Colony Near Kewanee, Ill., Was 81.

Kewanee.—Swan Swanson, aged 81, last of the original seven trustees of the famous communistic colony established by Swedish emigrants at Bishop hill, west of here, 60 years ago, died. He came with the 1,100 colonists from Sweden under the leadership of Eric Jansen in 1846 and spent the rest of his life in the town then founded. For many years after Jansen's tragic murder Swanson was postmaster of the colony.

SUSPECTS ARE RELEASED.

Men Accused of Robbing Post Office Go Free.

Carlinville.—Allen P. Lange and Ellis Moody, who were held in the county jail in this city suspected of being implicated in the attempt to rob the post office here March 9, were released after a preliminary hearing held before Justice John Homer. They succeeded in proving an alibi and showed without question of doubt that they had no hand in the affair.

To Plead His Own Case.

Springfield.—"It's either the gallows or the asylum for me and I guess it's the latter," said Peter Clark, held for shooting Mrs. Ollie Hill Gibson on an interurban car near Virden. Thus he gave an inkling of the defense he will offer. He declared he would take charge of his own defense. "I want no lawyer," he said, "and have seen none since my arrest. All I ask is a few minutes' talk before a jury of representative Macoupin county men."

W. D. Fairbanks' Home Burns.

Urbana.—The fine new $30,000 residence of W. D. Fairbanks, brother of the vice president, at Mansfield was burned to the ground. The fire was caused either by spontaneous combustion from numerous cans of paint or lightning striking the dwelling. For the past two years workmen had been busy about the Fairbanks property and the house was almost completed.

Depot Robbed at Pana.

Pana.—The B. & O. S. W. railroad ticket office at Pana was robbed of $25 in money some time during the noon hour March 26. There is no clew to the thieves. The money drawer, although locked, was entered apparently with ease, as the lock did not seem to be disturbed when Agent B. F. Russell returned from dinner. The police are working on the case.

Revival at Murphysboro.

Murphysboro.—Ten hundred and sixty conversions in four weeks are the result of the "Billy Sunday revival" in Murphysboro. Among the converts are Judge Andrews, Attorney Fred Bierer, Drs. Roth Cox and Etherton Schade, Police Judge Deacon, Meyer Adams, Supervisor League, Druggist Dean West and a thousand others from all walks of life.

Deneen Appoints Miner.

Spring Valley.—Gov. Deneen appointed Martin Bolt of this city secretary of the state mining board. The salary is $1,500 per annum. Mr. Bolt is now serving his third term as subdistrict secretary of the U. M. W. A. for District No. 2, having been recently reelected to the position by vote of the miners of La Salle, Bureau, Marshall and Putnam counties.

Fraternal Orders Head Out.

Springfield.—Louis K. Cleveland of Moline resigned as head of the fraternal societies department. He has been employed in the state insurance department for nine years. His successor has not been named, but he will probably be some one now employed in the insurance department and who is acquainted with the duties.

Plan to Win Carnegie Gift.

Bloomington.—Presiding elders of the Methodist church from all parts of Illinois met here to devise plans to raise $60,000. This must be done to secure $30,000 for the Illinois Wesleyan university from Andrew Carnegie.

Noted Chicagoan Dead.

Chicago.—Alexander Beaubien, said to be the first white child born in Chicago, died after a long illness. Beaubien was born at Fort Dearborn, which was at that time the name of Chicago, January 28, 1832.

SENATE WANTS BILL

IS EXPECTED TO PASS OWN RAILROAD LEGISLATION.

ACTION EXPECTED SOON

This Week or Next, It Is Believed, Will See the Matter Disposed of—Senator Hurburgh in Readiness.

Springfield.—Railroad legislation has been before the senate proper for some time, the house maximum two-cent fare bill being on second reading, as is the senate committee bill which classifies fares according to the gross earnings per mile of the roads. Definite action on this matter is expected either this week or next, and it is understood to be the plan of the senate organization to pass its committee bill instead of the house measure. Senator Hurburgh, who introduced the bill that was used by the committee, has, in anticipation of action on the bill, gathered figures and statistics for use in his argument for the classified bill when it is called up for passage.

House Acts on Fee Scandals.

One more concrete result of the scandals in the county fee offices in Chicago, was the passage by the house of a bill to provide for the regular auditing of such offices. The necessity for this measure was evidenced by the 108 votes cast in its favor and no vote was recorded against it. The bill passed is that prepared by the revenue committee. It establishes the position of county auditor in Cook county. He is to be appointed by the president of the county board, who may also appoint assistants. The new county auditor may have access at all times to the books of any county official. An equally important duty of the county auditor is that he must install in all county offices a uniform system of books of account, forms, reports and records.

Salary for State's Attorney.

Representative Louis Pierson of Wilmette delivered a long eulogy of Gov. Deneen and a defense of Mr. Deneen's retention of his state's attorney's fees, prior to the passage of the Mills bill to put the state's attorney of Cook county on a salary of $10,000. Incidentally he stirred up "Charley" Allen of Vermilion and "Al" Glade of Cook by a reference to the Allen bill which was not generally understood.

The bills compelling the state's attorney of Cook to turn over his fees to the county and fixing his salary passed unanimously.

Report on Pure Food Bill.

Chairman Glade of the committee on manufactures probably will report in the new pure food bill this week as a committee bill, and the subcommittee of the house appointed to investigate conditions at Highwood will report.

The house calendar is becoming congested. It is probable Speaker Shurtleff will insist that the Friday session be graced by the presence of at least a quorum hereafter and that that day be devoted to something besides advancing bills on the calendar.

Reform Bill Passes Senate.

A reform bill passed by the senate was Jones' measure establishing a legislative reference bureau in connection with the state library. A similar law has been in operation in Wisconsin with good results. The purpose of the bill is to create a department wherein proposed legislation may be carefully prepared to minimize the possibility of unconstitutional laws getting on the state books.

Bills in the Senate.

The senate during the short session this week is expected to pass another batch of bills, including a few insurance reform measures. Action will be sought on the bill creating the office of state fire marshal, an administration measure, if reported back by the enrolling and engrossing committee. Senator Chafee has two bills in this committee which have not yet been reported.

City Beautiful Advanced.

Representative Troyer secured the advancement to third reading of the Chicago beautiful bills providing for a bond issue for the boulevard link and authorizing municipalities to construct and maintain surface or elevated ways and to turn them over to park boards. All city beautiful bills in the house are now on third reading, and will come up for passage next week.

For Better Milk Inspection.

A comprehensive measure on the inspection of milk and regulating its sale was offered by Mr. Chafee. Under its terms a state inspector is provided. Rigid rules are laid down for the inspection of dairies and drastic penalties are provided for the punishment of violators of the proposed law.

Insurance Bills to Pass.

The senate, during the short session this week is expected to pass another batch of bills, including a few insurance reform measures.

Action will be sought on the bill creating the office of state fire marshal, if reported back by the enrolling and engrossing committee, where, it is said, it is being delayed.

Senator Chaffee has two bills in this committee which have not yet been reported. If they are not sent into the senate this week he intends to have them forced in.

Commission Visits Highwood.

After an extremely warm debate on the floor a legislative commission of three members of the house was appointed by Speaker Edward D. Shurtleff to investigate the saloons and dives of Highwood. It is expected that the report of the committee will be followed at once by the passage of the bill to prohibit the sale or distribution of liquor within a mile and one-eighth of an army post or a naval training school. The effect of the proposed law on the saloons at North Chicago also will be considered by the commission.

The action of representatives of the liquor interests when they were here a week ago in failing to face the committee on license and in hurrying back to Chicago when they thought they had the committee lined up to put the Highwood measure over because of no quorum, followed by fresh petitions from "residents of Highwood" against the passage of the bill which the committee voted to report out, are the causes of the formal investigation.

The speaker himself introduced the resolution for the investigation. He appointed as commissioners Frank R. Covey, who comes from the district including Highwood; Dennis Gibbons, minority member from that district, who has been urging the claims of the saloon interests, and Mr. Ap Madoc, who introduced the bill in the house.

Favor Direct Vote for Senators.

The election hereafter of United States senators by direct vote of the people instead of by the men was indorsed by the senate by a vote of 35 to 3. The test came on the adoption of the resolution offered last week by W. Clyde Jones, of Chicago, asking congress to call a constitutional convention for the purpose of changing the present plan. The three who voted against the resolution were Chafee, Galpin and Stubblefield, Republicans.

Mr. Jones made a brief talk in favor of the change, declaring that the people of the state had, through the medium of the "little ballot" expressed themselves in favor of the direct election of their United States senators. He explained that if two-thirds of the states ask for a constitutional convention congress will have to act. Thus far, Mr. Jones stated that about 19 commonwealths have joined in the movement.

Mr. Chafee, of Shelbyville, opposed the resolution, contending that the new primary law which provides for a "sentimental" vote on the senatorship is all that is needed. The resolution now goes to the house for concurrence by that branch of the general assembly.

Chafee Raises a Storm.

A hornets' nest was stirred in the senate when Mr. Chafee took up the movement to reduce the cost of reports of the supreme and appellate courts. The Shelbyville senator, who has a way of his own of doing things, introduced two bills similar to the house measures which have lain dormant in the senate committee on appropriations since last month. Under the bills the cost of supreme and appellate court reports is reduced from $2.25 to $1.50 a volume.

Mr. Chafee asked that the bills be referred to the committee on fees and salaries, to which Mr. Gardner of La Salle, chairman of the committee on appropriations, objected. In speaking in favor of his request Mr. Chafee declared that the present cost was "graft." He did not charge that Mr. Gardner's committee was purposely holding up the bills, but declared in a vein of sarcasm that that committee "appeared to be overworked," and that he did not believe in "working to death a good horse." Mr. Chafee was defeated, as both measures were sent to the committee on appropriations, where the Provine measure on the same subject is resting.

Look to Senate for Action.

The failure of the house so far to dispose of the local option question has caused a number of the members of the legislature in favor of an option bill and representatives of the anti-saloon league to look to the senate for favorable consideration of a measure that would meet their ideas as far as local option is concerned. It is not unlikely that several of the leaders in the senate will have reported out a bill similar to that which was reported out by the house committee on judiciary, but for which the Browne bill was substituted on second reading. Whatever measure is decided upon in the senate, no delay in passing it is anticipated and the house would continue to be confronted with the troublesome problem.

Urges Honor to Lincoln.

Gov. Deneen sent to the house and senate a message suggesting that the citizens of the state join in a general celebration and observance of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln February 12, 1909. He suggested that a commission be created to formulate plans for the participation of the state in what is intended to be a national celebration.

For Safety of Workmen.

The sub-committee of the committee on labor and industrial affairs, which has had in hand the bill requiring the guarding of all dangerous machinery and containing general provisions for the safety of workmen, will report the measure to the full committee this week, and a favorable recommendation will immediately be made by that body. The bill has been modified in a great many particulars, Chairman Hope saying the bill "had its stingers taken out of it."

MATTERS FEMININE.

NECKWEAR IN FAVOR

SMART STYLES FOR THE COMING SUMMER.

Handkerchief Stocks Will Be Largely Used—Some of the Most Dressy Kind—Bows of Embroidery and Lace.

Much of the smartest neckwear designed for spring and summer is made from handkerchiefs, and it is so simple to fashion that any needlewoman of taste can make it for herself. For a dressy stock take not quite half of a sheer handkerchief with a scalloped buttonholed edge, run several fine tucks to form the collar, which can be finished around the top and down the back with narrow Valenciennes lace. The average sized handkerchief just goes around the average neck. For the bow, or jabot, use the remainder of the handkerchief; plait the material from the center, making a sort of fan affair; after it is pressed, gather the top part slightly to make it narrow, and tack it onto the collar. Another style of handkerchief which can be converted into pretty neck pieces for plainer wear is that with the colored border. Dark blue with a touch of red makes a pretty combination.

The fluffy little bows of embroidery, lace and linen so popular now to pin on as a finishing touch to a toilet are easy to make if one is the least bit handy with a needle. Take a piece of fine lawn or sheer linen about four inches wide and eight inches long, roll a hem and whip a narrow lace on the sides. Baste the tiny plaits firmly and then press them under a damp cloth. Twist a heavy thread around the center of the plaiting several times (do not try to sew it) and then cover the center with a piece of insertion to match the lace edging. These little bow affairs need not necessarily be plaited—a piece of material edged with a fulling of lace and gathered several times in the middle will give a pretty fluffy effect. Tiny pieces of all-over embroidery can be used up in the same way. Round clasp pins found at the notion counters can be sewed on to the backs of these bows, making them safer and more convenient to wear.

But the new neckwear is not confined to white or wash goods. Little bows to match the belts seem equally the thing. If one wears a blue belt with a gilt buckle, a quarter of a yard of blue ribbon four inches wide, a tiny gold buckle or two gilt buttons will make the smartest kind of neck arrangement to match. Run two rows of gathering down the ribbon, about half an inch apart, gather it up firmly and cover the shirrings with a narrow strap of ribbon, and on this use the little gold buckle of the buttons. A piece of plaid silk bound with a strip of plain silk and drawn together in the center with a piece of eyelet embroidery insertion makes a pretty addition to a plain white waist.

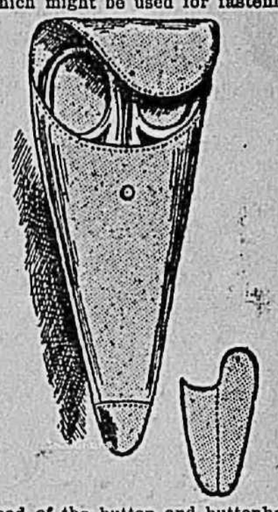

CASE FOR THE SCISSORS.

Here Is One That Can Be Quickly Cut Out and Sewn Together.

For keeping scissors nice and bright and in good condition a little case of some kind is almost a necessity, and the case we illustrate can be quickly cut out and sewn together. It must of course be made to fit the scissors it is intended for, and can be cut out in one piece and sewn together at the side.

If an extra little piece of material should be sewn on to cover the point of the case, it will strengthen it and prevent the points of the scissors from wearing through. Soft washleather is a very good material to use, as it will keep the scissors bright and in good condition. The tops of old suede gloves may also be utilized. There is a flap at the top which bends over to close the case, and fastens by means of a button.

The small diagram illustrates the shape in which the material should be cut out, the dotted line showing where it folds over, and it is sewn together on the right hand side. It is a good plan to bind the edges with ribbon of the same color as the case, ends of which might be used for fastening instead of the button and buttonhole. The monogram or initials of the owner worked on the flap would add to its value.

USE FOR PICTURE POST CARDS.

Pretty Decoration on the Walls of a Nursery.

A pretty and simple way of utilizing picture post cards for the decoration of the walls of a nursery is illustrated in the accompanying sketch. To suspend them from the wall in the manner shown is very little trouble, and they make a nice bright decoration, and are easily added to or changed, thus making them always a new source of interest.

The cards may be fastened on a piece of fine twine or strong cotton, or for preference, narrow robbon by means of little pieces of stamp paper over the top of the card. They can then be hung up in large or small festoons round the room. Humorous cards mixed with views of places that perhaps the little ones have visited will always amuse them; and as they are very light in weight, they can be pinned to the wall with ordinary drawing pins, and are easily taken down when not required.

A Novel Way of Choosing Partners.

The most troublesome feature of most parties is the choosing of partners for games. This grows especially hard when the party celebrates some special occasion, such as Valentine's day.

At a last year affair each lady was presented with a small mounted picture of the one-cent size now so easily obtainable. These pictures were all different, but each referred in some way to love. No two subjects were the same. To each of the gentlemen was given the same picture, also mounted, that some one of the ladies possessed, with the exception that his had been cut up into five or six irregular pieces, and then pasted in any position on the card, which made it hard to discern just what its subject was. Of course, the gentlemen were supposed to search for the cards identical with their own, and to claim the lady holding them as their partners. This searching created a great deal of laughter and discussion, and effectually broke the ice.

THE WEEK-END BOX.

Traveling Necessity for the Woman of Fashion.

The week-end box is quite as much a part of the fashionable woman's wardrobe as her jewel case or any other accessory, says the New York Tribune, for since it has become the thing to go out of town from Saturday until Monday it is of prime importance that milady's luggage should be easily handled and at the same time combine all of the comforts possible consistent with compactness. The black enameled leather English week-end box is practically a small trunk, but wonderfully light and easily carried by maid or groom, and can be stowed away in the automobile or railway carriage with little or no discomfort to its owner. It is lined with plaid cloth and is provided with a couple of trays, so that the skirts and waists may be kept separately and a place found for underclothing, shoes, slippers and other necessaries. Of course, the toilet articles have their own bag, preferably a Gladstone, and the combination of these two traveling companions makes the stay over Sunday a thoroughly comfortable one for even the woman who expects to crowd into her brief visit a dance, a dinner party, a game of tennis or a meet of the hounds, and who will require several changes of clothes in consequence.

DICTATES OF FASHION.

All the skirts of thin material show a little fullness at the waist line.

A little touch of black velvet somewhere about the gown is a distinctive note just now.

Valenciennes, torchon and several other fashionable laces are now imitated in gold and silver thread.

Brightest peacock blue appears now and then, crude in its garishness and out, of harmony with its surroundings.

The old-time serpentine skirt weighted with jetted insertions and trimmings is one of the graceful revivals for slender figures.

Another pretty touch is a black-velvet buckle catching down a corsage bow of white tulle or a stock bow of soft satin ribbon.

Feather toques, composed of two large wings and some tall feathers mounted on a small velvet frame, are finding favor in Paris for matinee wear.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If it's painful periods with women, same cause.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

DIE IN WRECK

...ERN PACIFIC OVERLAND STRIKES OPEN SWITCH.

...NOWN DEAD NUMBER 23

...uncie, Ind., Man One of the Victims —Others Mostly Italians—Disaster Occurs Near Colton, Cal.

Colton, Cal. — As a result of the disastrous wreck of the westbound Southern Pacific Sunset express in the east Colton yards late Thursday afternoon, 23 dead bodies lie in a local undertaking establishment, eight terribly injured are in the Colton hospital, and more than 50 others, whose injuries are less serious, have been taken to Los Angeles on special trains. The dead were all passengers on the wrecked train with one exception.

Following is list of the dead: Albert W. Shie, mail clerk, Los Angeles; George L. Sharpe, Muncie, Ind.; F. I. Walters, Sacramento, a Southern Pacific fireman, who was a passenger on the train. Twenty Italians of New York and New Orleans, on their way to San Francisco. One Italian woman was killed.

Of the seriously injured, those now in the Colton hospital are in the worst condition. One of them is sure to die, and several of them may not survive.

Cause Not Yet Determined.

The exact cause of the wreck will not be determined until the coroner's inquest is concluded. The train was running fully 40 miles an hour at the time it struck the open switch. The Southern Pacific was blocked at the point of the crash until Friday night. Ten of the 14 coaches of the train were derailed and three of them were smashed completely. The Italians, who numbered nearly 100, were in two old immigrant cars and these cars were literally crushed into kindling wood. The passengers in the Pullman cars escaped uninjured.

Early Friday morning Coroner Van Wye commenced to take preliminary testimony from the switching crew to ascertain whether they should be held for responsibility for the wreck of the Southern Pacific overland train near Colton Thursday.

Switch Foreman Alvord testified that when he came to work in the morning he saw that the first section of the Sunset express, known as No. 9, was chalked up on the board as eight hours late. When he returned from his lunch he inspected the board and found it silent as to No. 9 and as the eight hours' limit had expired, he concluded the overland had gone through during his absence. This error was not discovered by him until he heard his engineer whistling a frantic signal at the switch to the overland to stop. The overland was then half across the Santa Ana bridge. It was impossible to get back and close the switch because the fated train had reached it.

Operator Held Responsible.

In this statement Alvord is corroborated by his switchmen. He evidently means to be understood as placing the responsibility, or part of it, on the operator, whose duty it was to keep the time board checked as a guide to the switchmen. The coroner later stated that under the rules of the company the switch foreman seems to have a good defense; that their first order in the morning was that the overland train would arrive at 1:45 o'clock, eight hours late, when, in fact, it was ten hours behind; that the operator should have notified the switching crew, who were far removed from all telegraphic communication, and furthermore, he stated that the rules prohibit trains over ten minutes late entering the yards without having their train under complete control, and the yard limits at Colton are over a mile east of where the accident occurred.

The death of George Sharpe of Muncie, Ind., whose life was instantly crushed out, was particularly pathetic. Sharpe was on his way to this city to meet his wife, from whom he had became estranged three years ago. He formerly resided here, but when he and his wife separated he returned to Indiana. Recently he notified friends here that he was coming to Los Angeles to see his wife and secure a reconciliation. Sharpe did not know that she had secured a divorce from him more than a year ago and had remarried.

GALUSHA A. GROW IS DEAD

PENNSYLVANIA STATESMAN SUCCUMBS TO OLD AGE.

Has Record-Breaking Service in Congress—Was the Father of the Homestead Act.

Binghamton, N. Y.—Former Congressman Galusha A. Grow died at his home in Glenwood, Pa., Sunday afternoon as a result of a general breakdown attributed to old age.

Mr. Grow was elected to congress from the Wilmot district of Pennsylvania as the youngest member of that body, in 1851, and after retirement from public life for nearly 40 years he reentered the house of representatives as congressman at large from Pennsylvania 14 years ago. When he retired four years ago, his public service in the house extended over the longest period, although not continuous service, of any man who ever sat in that body.

Galusha A. Grow.

During the antebellum days he was one of the best known men in the United States and in 1864 he came within one vote of being nominated for vice president in place of Andrew Johnson, who became president on the death of Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Grow was elected speaker of the house of representatives in 1861 and occupied that position during the first two years of the war, until his retirement from congress in 1863.

Mr. Grow's greatest public service was as the father of the homestead act, through which measure many million acres of western farm lands were opened up to settlement by homesteaders, an act which has been credited with doing more than any other one thing for the development of the great west. He was the last surviving member of a family of six children. He was never married.

"SILENT" SMITH IS DEAD.

American Millionaire Passes Away in Kioto, Japan.

New York. — A dispatch received here Wednesday from Tokyo, Japan, announces the death of James Henry Smith, one of the wealthiest capitalists of this city. At the time of his death Mr. Smith was on a wedding tour around the world with his bride, who was the divorced wife of William Rhinelander Stewart. They were married in this city on Sept. 13 of last year.

Mr. Smith's death occurred Tuesday at Kioto, Japan. Heart disease is said to have been the cause. A dispatch received here Monday said that Mr. Smith was dangerously ill. In the party with Mr. and Mrs. Smith were the duke and duchess of Manchester.

James Henry Smith, known as the "silent man of Wall street," inherited some years ago an estate valued at upward of $50,000,000 from his uncle, George Smith, a pioneer banker of Chicago. After the death of William C. Whitney, Mr. Smith purchased the Whitney residence in Fifth avenue and entertained there on a lavish scale. Mrs. Stewart obtained a divorce last year and at the time her decree was granted it was reported that she intended to become the wife of Mr. Smith. She is much interested in society, as was Mr. Smith. Indeed, Mr. Stewart's indifference to social affairs was said to be one of the reasons for the estrangement of the couple. Mrs. Stewart was a Miss Armstrong, of Baltimore, and is a sister of Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel, of Philadelphia.

FIRE IN GRISCOM'S HOUSE

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR TO ROME NEARLY BURNED OUT.

Ball Room Ceiling Ruined and Several Paintings Damaged—Loss Is Estimated at $10,000.

Rome.—While Lloyd C. Griscom, the American ambassador, and Mrs. Griscom were returning from the Easter services at the American church Sunday, they saw smoke rising from the roof of their home, the Palazzo del Drago. Mr. Griscom hurriedly entered the building and found the servants were unaware that the palace was on fire.

The ambassador led the way to the attic. Flames burst forth as he opened the door and burned his hand and singed his eyebrows. When the firemen arrived the beams, which were put in place centuries ago, were burning briskly. The roof over the attic collapsed, causing the center portion of the ceiling of the magnificent ballroom to fall. The furniture and paintings were quickly removed, but not before several of the latter, notably one of President Roosevelt, were damaged.

After working two hours the firemen succeeded in checking the blaze The loss is estimated at $10,000 and is covered by insurance.

Ambassador Griscom had intended to sign the lease Monday for the house, which still is under lease to the former American ambassador, Henry White.

The origin of the fire has not been definitely established.

NEW YORK BANK CLOSED.

Corbin Banking Company Assigns for the Benefit of Creditors.

New York.—The Corbin banking company Thursday assigned for the benefit of creditors to George C. Austin.

At the office of the company the following statement was given out:

"The assets exceed the liabilities by more than $1,000,000. The principal assets consist of valuable real estate, which could not be sold, except at a sacrifice, in time to meet maturing obligations. The creditors will undoubtedly be paid in full."

The Corbin Banking company was established by the late Austin Corbin, Sr., who was for many years the controlling influence in the Long Island Railroad company. Mr. Austin said a rough estimate placed the liabilities at $1,700,000, and the assets at $3,000,000.

SOUTHERN TOWN IN FLAMES.

Fire Destroys Much Property in Newberry, S. C.

Laurens, S. C. — Fire at Newberry, S. C., a thriving little city of 6,000 population, Friday destroyed 22 residences, ten stores and two churches, entailing a loss estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000 with insurance of about $85,000.

The conflagration started in the rear of the Newberry hotel at 11:30 o'clock in the morning. A gale was blowing and the flames spread with great rapidity. The citizens became alarmed and appeals for assistance were telegraphed to Columbia and to this city, but engines could not be sent into Newberry on account of the destruction of the railroad tracks. The Newberry fire department exerted every effort to check the flames, but the fire was beyond control. Two hours after the fire broke out the entire city water supply was exhausted and the town was left practically at the mercy of the flames.

SALVADOR ANXIOUS FOR PEACE.

Seeks Good Offices of Mexico to End Central American Struggle.

Washington. — Mr. Creel, the Mexican ambassador, Wednesday confirmed the press dispatches that Salvador has expressed a desire for peace in Central America and is anxious to have Mexico exert its good influence in ending the war involving Salvador, Honduras and Nicaragua.

The desire of Salvador for peace is regarded by diplomatists as an indication that the war is practically ended, because Honduras is not strong enough to continue it single-handed. This action of Salvador will doubtless prevent Guatemala or Costa Rica from taking any part in the support of Honduras. Mr. Creel had a conference with Mr. Corea, the Nicaraguan minister and probably will confer with Secretary Root as to how Mexico and the United States can best exert their efforts to restore peace.

HILL STOCK ISSUE VALID.

Great Northern's $60,000,000 Increase Is Upheld.

St. Paul.—The state supreme court Thursday upheld the Great Northern railroad in its contention that it had the right to issue $60,000,000 additional stock which was authorized by the board of directors several months ago. The issue was enjoined through the intervention of Attorney General Young, who held that the railroad company should first go before the state railroad and warehouse commission and submit to an examination to show the necessity of the issue. The contention of the state was upheld by Judge Hallam in the Ramsey county district court, and he ordered an injunction to issue. The supreme court reverses that decision.

The opinion of the court was unanimous. Chief Justice Start delivered the opinion.

Man Killed by Fireworks.

New York.—A spark caused by a blow from a hammer ignited a quantity of set pieces in the finishing room of the Consolidated Fire Works company at Graniteville, S. I., Wednesday and in the explosion that followed one man was torn to pieces, a boy and two girls were probably fatally injured and seven other persons were burned.

Best Violin Strings.

The best strings for violins are of Italian make and are from the intestines of spring lambs, killed in September. The process of drying and bleaching of the woods and strings by the hot Italian sun, rather than by the artificial method used in other countries, accounts in a great measure for the superior quality of both materials. This intense heat was also the reason for the slow distillation of the oils used by the Italian makers, which always remained at a high temperature, and the varnish, slowly soaking into the woods of the violins beneath the heat of those Italian summers, produced, in part, the mellowness of tone that gives to a Cremona instrument its value, after a lapse of 200 or more years.—March Circle.

TONIC FOR MOTHERS

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Are Safe and Reliable—A Favorite Household Remedy.

Motherhood may be the crowning blessing of a woman's life or it may bring grief and sorrow. Mrs. M. J. Wight, of 170 Seventh Street, Auburn, Maine, relates her experience after the birth of her daughter in 1901, as follows: "I was all run down at the time the baby came and did not improve in health rapidly after. I was pale, thin and bloodless. My stomach distressed me being full of gas all the time and my heart fluttered so that I could scarcely breathe.

"Finally I remembered that a friend had recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to me so I commenced using them. I gained in strength rapidly while the baby throve also. When I expected my next child I started taking the pills again as a tonic and strengthener and had no such difficulty as before. I got up better and my strength came back much sooner.

"A year ago last winter I had an attack of rheumatism in the hands which went from one hand to the other. The joints swelled up and were so stiff I could not move them. The pain extended up through my arms and shoulders. I felt sick enough to go to bed but did not do so. This attack lasted for several months. I tried several remedies but finally came back to using the pills which had done me so much good before and found that they benefited me almost at once. I have not been troubled since."

All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or they will be sent by mail post-paid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. Send for book of cures.

LUNACY COMMISSION SUMMONS HARRY THAW'S WIFE.

SHE IS MUCH DISTURBED

Report to the Court Is Expected Thursday, The Trial Being Adjourned for Three More Days.

New York.—It is probable that the Thaw lunacy commission will report Thursday morning. The case was adjourned last week until Monday morning, and when the jury was called before the court Justice Fitzgerald adjourned again the trial until Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The lunacy commission will meet Tuesday and it is expected that they will be ready to report Thursday.

When Mrs. Evelyn Thaw made her daily visit to her husband in the Tombs Monday she was met by a process server who handed her a subpoena directing her to appear before the lunacy commission. Mrs. Thaw apparently had not anticipated this move, and she appeared very much disturbed when the nature of the paper was made known to her. "Do they expect me to testify against my husband?" she asked. She was told that her presence probably was desired merely as a matter of routine, but this did not seem to assure her. District Attorney Jerome declined to make known his purpose in calling Mrs. Thaw before the commission.

The members of the Thaw jury have drawn up a petition to Justice Fitzgerald asking him to allow them five dollars a day for jury services instead of the customary allowance of two dollars a day. Their action is based on an instance in which the court made a similar increase in the jury's allowance after the case had been extended to an unusual length.

It was reported Monday that when the lunacy commission resumes its hearing Mr. Jerome will call as his witnesses Drs. Pilgrim and Gregory, of this city, two of the alienists engaged by the defense, and will endeavor to prove by them that Thaw is now insane. Dr. Pilgrim is head of the New York state lunacy commission and Dr. Gregory is in charge of the psychopathic ward of Bellevue hospital.

CARPENTERS ALL QUIT WORK.

Building Operations in Minneapolis Come to a Stop.

Minneapolis, Minn.—Following the example of the teamsters, painters and upholsterers, the carpenters have walked out and building operations all over the city are shut down temporarily as a result, although there is no strike. The walkout Monday followed a decision reached at the meeting of the master builders held Saturday night.

Labor leaders say that for some time the carpenters have been asking for higher wages and the contractors have been equally positive in their statements that no higher wages would be granted.

How a Swan River Settler Has Succeeded.

Benito, Manitoba, Nov. 26, 1906.

At Swan River Valley, in May, 1900, a settler took up a homestead on Section 30, in Township 34, Range 29 West of the First Meridan, at that time 50 miles from a railway, telegraph, school or church. There is now a railway within two miles of my farm, and all these other advantages close at hand. His story is:

"After making my homestead entry fee of $10 I had $45.00 total (forty-five dollars) capital. Through doing homestead duties in slack times of the year, I managed to get a start. I am a married man of 28 years of age.

"I built my first house, or shack, and broke up 8 acres, putting five acres in crop the first year.

GHOSTS PLAY MANY PRANKS.

Grab Rope from Bellringer and Cut Down Trees.

Ghostly happenings have disturbed the town of Kirkwall, the capital of the county of Orkney. On Wednesday night, says the London Daily Mail, the wife of the bellringer went to St. Magnus cathedral to sound the curfew at eight o'clock. This is an ancient custom still observed in the burgh. The bell had been tolled for less than a minute, when, it is alleged, a figure suddenly appeared at the woman's side, snatched her hands from the rope and as mysteriously disappeared.

Another morning 20 trees which a few years ago were planted in front of the cathedral were found to have been cut down. The night was a calm one, with brilliant moonlight, and the trees were standing at one o'clock in the morning.

Hundreds of windows have an outlook on the spot, and many people who were still astir at three o'clock in the morning did not hear the slightest sound outside. Yet an hour later every tree had been destroyed. The police are baffled.

BLOOD GETS SOUR.

Every Family Should Make Up This Home Mixture and Take Now.

At this time of year, says a well-known authority, the Kidneys become weak, clogged and inactive, failing to filter out the poisons and acids, which sour the blood, causing not only facial and bodily eruptions, but the worst forms of Rheumatism, Nervous and Stomach troubles, Backache and painful, annoying Urinary afflictions.

It is worth anyone's time now to get from some good prescription pharmacy the following ingredients: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after your meals and at bedtime.

This simple home-made mixture will force the Kidneys to normal, healthy action, so they will filter and strain all uric acid and poisonous waste matter from the blood, and expel this in the urine, at the same time restoring the "full blood count"—that is, 95 per cent. red blood corpuscles—which is absolutely indispensable to perfect health.

CURED OF GRAVEL.

Not a Single Stone Has Formed Since Using Doan's Kidney Pills.

J. D. Daughtrey, music publisher, of Suffolk, Va., says: "During two or three years that I had kidney trouble I passed 2½ pounds of gravel and sandy sediment in the urine. I haven't passed a stone since using Doan's Kidney Pills, however, and that was three years ago. I used to suffer the most acute agony during a gravel attack, and had the other usual symptoms of kidney trouble—lassitude, headache, pain in the back, urinary disorders, rheumatic pain, etc. I have a box containing 14 gravel stones that I passed, but that is not one-quarter of the whole number. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a fine kidney tonic."

OLD CANNON CAN'T BE BROKEN.

Armament of Old Craft Was Made to Last.

A good story is being told at the Mare Island navy yard concerning a San Francisco contractor who bought all the old obsolete cannon which were sold at the local yard some time ago. The cannon were all of the smooth bore kind, and in order that they might be easily handled for shipment to the city all sorts of schemes were tried to endeavor to break them with dynamite and blasting powder, but they were unsuccessful.

An electric drill machine was even set up at the yards and the cannon were drilled full of holes in order to weaken them for breaking open with wedges, but this was also unsuccessful. The cannon were then taken away and the last heard of them they were corralled in the hills near Point Richmond, where an effort was being made to break them open with dynamite again.

The cannon which proved to be so strong were among the armament of the war craft which sailed the seas in 1812.

FURIOUS HUMOR ON CHILD.

Itching, Bleeding Sores Covered Body —Nothing Helped Her—Cuticura Cures Her in Five Days.

"After my granddaughter of about seven years had been cured of the measles, she was attacked about a fortnight later by a furious itching and painful eruption all over her body, especially the upper part of it, forming watery and bleeding sores, especially under the arms, of considerable size. She suffered a great deal and for three weeks we nursed her every night, using all the remedies we could think of. Nothing would help. We tried the Cuticura Remedies and after twenty-four hours we noted considerable improvement, and after using only one complete set of the Cuticura Remedies, in five consecutive days the little one, much to our joy, had been entirely cured, and has been well for a long time. Mrs. F. Ruefenacht, R. F. D. No. 3, Bakersfield, Cal., June 25 and July 20, 1906."

MEN ADMIRE

a pretty face, a good figure, but sooner or later learn that the healthy, happy, contented woman is most of all to be admired.

Women troubled with fainting spells, irregularities, nervous irritability, backache, the "blues," and those dreadful dragging sensations, cannot hope to be happy or popular, and advancement in either home, business or social life is impossible.

The cause of these troubles, however, yields quickly to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from native roots and herbs. It acts at once upon the organ afflicted and the nerve centers, dispelling effectually all those distressing symptoms. No other medicine in the country has received such unqualified indorsement or has such a record of cures of female ills as has

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Miss Emma Runtzler, of 631 State St., Schenectady, N. Y., writes:—"For a long time I was troubled with a weakness which seemed to drain all my strength away. I had dull headaches, was nervous, irritable, and all worn out. Chancing to read one of your advertisements of a case similar to mine cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I decided to try it and I cannot express my gratitude for the benefit received. I am entirely well and feel like a new person."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most successful remedy for all forms of Female Complaints, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and is invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the Change of Life.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the appoval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.
